The construction was not "sanctioned" as stated in the draft, but only "administratively approved", which is an entirely different matter, as the former implies that ~~financial~~ expenditure sanction has also been given, whereas the latter merely means that the project is one which the local government approves & which will be taken in hand if & when money is available. I do not understand the use of these terms by office.

A separate note was submitted to the Secretary regarding Civil Works in which it was explained that expenditure sanction was not given separately here. The work is in progress and nearly half of the work has been completed. The draft already put up may now issue?

Issued No: 8686 dated the 14th Sept 1928.

Letter No. 1307/29, dated the 24th September, 1928, from the Residency Surgeon, Bangalore.

The Consulting Engineer to the Government of India has made the following remarks on the proposal:-

"As regards the proposed structural alterations to the Lady Assistant Surgeons quarters as shown in plate No.2, it is presumed that the portion enclosed in plain yellow lines is to remain as it is, while those portions which are covered with yellow cross lines are to be dismantled and this should have been made clear on the plan. If that is the case, it means that there is no partition wall or communicating door between the bed rooms and the dressing rooms which would appear to be most unsatisfactory. The same remark applies to the distribution of rooms as shown in the upper storey".

In reply the Executive Engineer states that the absence of communicating doors or partitions between bed rooms and dressing rooms is intentional, and in accordance with plans of houses already built in Bangalore, for which the arrangement is found suitable and in accordance with climatic conditions.

As verbally ordered by the Secretary, a draft reply to the Government of India is submitted for consideration.
